Q: Can you tell us a little about The Lightweaver Foundation? How did it originate, and what is your mission?
A: The Lightweaver Foundation was started by fantasy author Brandon Sanderson as a way to give back to his community. The Lightweaver Foundation’s primary focus is to help those who do not have basic needs. Next to basic needs, we believe it is important to feed the mind and we love donating books to help spread the love of reading!

Q: What kinds of projects have you worked on?
A: The Lightweaver Foundation has been a part of many different projects, including helping to establish a scholarship program at UVU, creating a library at a crisis shelter in Salt Lake City, raising funds for the Provo Food and Care Coalition, and contributing to Worldbuilders—a foundation started by fantasy author Patrick Rothfuss.

Q: What has been your favorite project?
A: My favorite project was for The Road Home and involved creating the women’s library for the Salt Lake Community Shelter. It was the first project that we fully funded and worked on from start to finish. We loved this project since we have always believed in The Road Home’s initiative to help people overcome homelessness and have seen the outcome of their services.

Q: Does the Lightweaver Foundation work with any other authors or writers?
A: The Lightweaver Foundation has consistently supported Patrick Rothfuss’s Worldbuilders foundation, which supports many great non-profits and does many fundraisers throughout the year. Visit worldbuilders.org to learn more.

Q: Can you tell us about the name Lightweaver? What does it mean?
A: The name Lightweaver comes from a ten-book series that Brandon is currently writing, The Stormlight Archive. In the books, Lightweavers are one of ten orders known as the Knights Radiant. They use surges of illumination—which allow them to create illusions—and transformation—which allow them to convert objects from one essence to another. This process is called lightweaving. ‘There’s more, but to find out, you’ll have to read the books!’

Q: Is there a way people can get involved?
A: If you have any questions or want to get involved, please email Jane Horne at lightweaver@brandonsanderson.com. We will have a website soon, so keep an eye out on Brandon’s social media channels for that announcement.

own vinyl or paper, or use our scrap, but you can make stickers, decals, and art designs for your car, home, business, T-shirts, and more.

Make Memories: Want to get your family’s old phonos on your computer to share at the next reunion? Use our KODAK SCANZA Digital Scanner to convert your 35mm, 126, 110, Super 8 & 8mm film, negatives, and slides to JPEGs. Transfer your old VHS tapes, mini DV tapes, audio cassette tapes, and vinyl records to digital and take the files on your USB drive or cloud. We also have a GoPro Hero video camera and an Instax instant camera for choic.

Make Friends: While all of these resources are great, the best part of the Makerspace is the community. Brain-storming and collaboration is constantly happening—I’ve seen a patron give another an impromptu sewing tutorial, and a young patron give a staff member some tips on 3D modeling. Library staff is always available to answer questions and assist with the equipment, but it really is up to you to know what you want to make, learn how to make it, and actually do the making. That is the real joy in creating your dream project!

Make Music: We have music composition software that allows you to compose your own music via MIDI and a full keyboard with weighted keys to play like a real piano. Mix your music and master it here, then send a copy to our CD replicators to burn your CDs six at a time.

Make a Model: We’ve seen our 3D printers make puzzles, prototypes, a doggie wheelchair, and many engineering pieces. You can make customized art, game pieces, costume accessories, and anything else you can imagine—all you need is a 3D file that you want to print. We provide the plastic filament which create your 3D objects and you pay (10 cents a gram) for the amount of filament used.

Make an Outfit: Want to make an accessory or item of clothing for yourself or your pets, friends, or family? We have a Bernina sewing machine and sergers for tailoring and customizing projects, and sewing tools, jewelry kits, Dremel tools, and costuming/cosplay tools.

Make Art: You can cut vinyl, paper, and fabric on either the Cricut or Silhouette machines. You will need to bring your

TURTLE ISLAND QUARTET
NOVEMBER 14 | 7PM | FIREPLACE

It’s getting cold outside…and you know what that means. It’s time for another winter of concerts at the Orem Public Library! This year the library received a grant from the Utah Division of Arts & Museums to bring you a special performance by the two-time Grammy award-winning group Turtle Island Quartet, a groundbreaking creative force in the fusion of classical chamber music for strings with contemporary and improvisatory musical styles. Formed in 1985 by violinist David Balakrishnan, Turtle Island Quartet has an extensive repertory of performances, recordings, and collaborations with major symphonic ensembles, labels, and other artists. Its musical journey includes forays into folk, bluegrass, swing, be-bop, funk, R&B, new age, rock, hip-hop, and hundreds of original arrangements. The quartet’s current members include Balakrishnan (violin), Malcolm Parson (cello), Gabriel Terracciano (violin), and Benjamin von Gutzeit (viola). Join us on Wednesday, November 14, at 7:00 pm by the fireplace as Turtle Island Quartet performs “Winter’s Eve,” a program evoking visions of a frosty winter’s eve and year-end celebrations from around the globe. The repertoire features everything from ancient King Wen songs of the Celtic winter solstice and yuletide reels from Ireland, to Brazilian festive chorinho music, African Kora, tunes of Hannukkah, Slavic folk carols, a Hindu spiritual, and a Miles Davis holiday classic. Don’t miss this rare opportunity to experience timeless music that has been an integral part of wintrytime festivities for centuries, features everything from ancient King Wen songs of the Celtic winter solstice and yuletide reels from Ireland, to Brazilian festive chorinho music, African Kora, tunes of Hannukkah, Slavic folk carols, a Hindu spiritual, and a Miles Davis holiday classic. Watch out—the teen section is getting a makeover! It will include new furniture and art, a bar desk for studying and chatting, a Lego model of Hogwarts, and…drumroll…a live tarantula! Here’s some tarantula trivia to introduce you to our newest library mascot.

HOW MANY KINDS OF TARANTULAS ARE THERE?
There are over 800 species and approximately 30 in the United States. Ours is a female Nhandu coloratovillosus, commonly known as a Brazilian black and white tarantula.

WHERE DO TARANTULAS LIVE?
Tarantulas prefer warm climates and live on every continent except Antarctica. Our tarantula will live in a terrarium by the teen book displays.

WHY ARE TARANTULAS SO HAIRY?
Tarantulas have very dense body hair, which they can flick at predators to irritate, sting, and temporarily blind the spider’s enemies. However, if you are between 14–18 and want to do more behind-the-scenes library work, join the Teen Library Council! Contact cconklin@orem.org for a volunteer application.

WHAT’S THE TARANTULA’S NAME? Good question! Leave a suggestion in the box by the spider’s cage or email us at oplprograms@gmail.com with your favorite names and we will select a winner and announce it on social media. If you choose our submission, you’ll win a cool library prize.
